December 2008

Dear AECVP members,

A merry Christmas and happy New Year to all of you.

2009 will be busy. Finishing guidelines on cardiovascular education and starting the work on guidelines for endomyocardial biopsying. In September we are part of the European Congress of Pathology in Florence.

Our 2nd Biennial in London was a very good one. Our British hosts had done a really fine job – even the weather was superb. I think the quality of lectures and talks was exceptionally good. Thank you to our hosts for organizing the event and to members for participating.

I find it our most important task within the next years to engage new and young members. I urge you all to have it in mind. It is also a good thing if we can attract colleagues who are not pathologists but 'cardiovascular freaks' and therefore also interested in cardiovascular pathology.

The board will convene in January 2009 at the cradle in Amsterdam. The next newsletter will come out April 2009.

My best regards and warmest wishes to all of you.

Ulrik Baandrup
